MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
THE DAY.

To Sheep-Farmers and the Public in general.

F. C. Calvert's Phenyline & Terebanus Sheep Salve

The great reputation these specifics have enjoyed in England on account of their extraordinary success in all cases where they have been applied, has induced the proprietors to introduce them in this market on account of the immense sheep farming interest of the country. To enable sheepfarmers to obviate in future the enormous losses they sustain yearly, not only in the deterioration of the Sheep, but also, as frequently happens, the loss of the animal itself. It is a powerful antiseptic, and the only safe a fair trial, feeling confident of the result. The following is a list of some of the uses to which these antiseptics may be applied —

In Sheep—To cure maggot ^otter, scab, lice, tick.

In Horses—Canker in the feet, grease, quitter, all dangerous wounds or ulcers, cracked heels, mange, &c

Cows; distemper, as Fall diseases of the horse.

For wounds or bruises resulting from accident and for all general Veterinary surgeryphenyline is a remedy whose excellence is found to be remarkably successful in the Hospitals, in England for cutting Cancer. Terebene is also used for preserving hides, skins and bones from all vermin and insects, the parts already cured with it by day and Australia have merited the approval of purchasers in England who report them to be perfectly successful and sweet. The leather made from the hides is also declared to be superior in every respect

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1868.

Parliamentary Record.

On Saturday there was unusual amusement in Congress. The Senators met at the usual hour.

A bill sent up from the Deputies, granting $30000 to Sor. Pardo and associates was at once passed.

The project for granting $500,000 for a new Custom-house was next introduced. The Senators hereupon retired for a few moments, meanwhile the Minister dropped in to see what they were doing about the Custom-house : finding his presence not required, he politely bowed himself out. As soon as he was gone, one of the Senators moved that the reading of the project be adjourned, as a very important reform was about to be introduced. Adjourned accordingly.

Then came the Deputies.

Sor. Bedoya at once called the attention of the house to the Budget.

The Budget was approved of in general, and then taken up in detail. The first of the reforms was the President's expenses, caused a good deal of discussion.

Dr Obligado asked like committee what explanations could be given respecting the creation of the office of private secretary to the President.

Sor. Montes de Oca also wished to be informed on the same subject.

The Minister declared that the private secretary was appointed in accordance to existing laws. He demanded of the house not to vote these items than discuss them.

Sor. Marmol said that they would not vote against these expenses, but rather against the way they were set forth.

A long debate ensued as to the money required for state dinners, salary of chaplain, coachmen, and hackneys : these the members thought the President should pay out of his salary.

Sor. Obligado thought that the clerks of the secretary should have their salaries reduced.

Sor. Marmol believed the proper plan to adopt was to put all these charges under the head of President's expenses.

This was put and carried.

Sor. Marmol objected to the charge for chaplain as useless and unnecessary, and only fit for monarchies.

Sor. Obligado remarked that the office of chaplain had come down to us since the epoch of the kings.

It was then put to the vote whether the President should, or should not, have a chaplain, and carried in the affirmative by a large majority, the salary to be $600.

The salaries of the secretaries and clerks of the President were put and voted.

The salaries paid to the orderlies of the President were thrown out, and 25 dollars per month only allowed.

The expenses of his cooks and servants were allowed.

The dinner table expenses were not thought out of the way, and were approved—it being understood that his Excellency should now and then give a dinner party.

Having finished with the President, the house next took up the minister's bill of fare.

Sr Obligado asked that the office of Contador be abolished

Sr Rojo for the suppression of Fiscal.

Sr Alsina, that the sub-secretaries' salaries be reduced (look out for the Tribune.)

The salaries were accordingly reduced to 150 dollars per month (oh, oh, from the gallery.)

The deputies retired for a few minutes.

When they returned, the salaries of the subs was again brought up, an 2,000 dollars a-year allowed them.

The expenses of Congress' fees also cut.

Sr Obligado moved that the salaries of the deputies and senators should be reduced to 2,000 dollars (oh, oh.)

Sr Zavalia thought that as their salaries were fixed by law, it would be more judicious not to meddle wit them. Mr. Obligado's motion was lost, and the article in the Budget a once passed.

Sr Marmol could not comprehend this excessive per mileage. He believed that it was four reals going and four coming, but it appears that it was from dollar going to a dollar coming. After a slight discussion it was passed

Then the house adjourned.

LUCAS MORENO.

At a moment like the present, when the destinies of the Oriental Republic hang on the issue of a battle, daily expected, between Flores and Moreno, it cannot be uninteresting to give a reliable statement, concerning the antecedents of General Lucas Moreno, who is set down by our city colleagues as a blood-thirsty assassin, and against whom we confess to have entertained a strong prejudice, until the subjoined document fell into our hands. We had heard that he was regarded by his friends as a brave, popular, and efficient commander, and one of the most progressive capitalists in the country. But the assault of Colonia is, according to the Tribuna' and brethren, a notorious act of barbarity, deserving for its author the worst epithets that can be heaped on him. On this subject we have the authority of General Melchor Pacheco y Obes, who was a contemporary, and political enemy of Moreno, and yet clears him from the foulest part of the accusation: his testimony is, therefore, most valuable.

General Pacheco y Obes was diplomatic agent for the Montevideo Government at Paris, in that time, and a we will let him speak for himself in the 'Bulletin du Rio de La Plata' of Oct. 1864 printed under the direction and by order of the Oriental Legation.

News brought by the S. S. "Lay."

THE COLONIA AFFAIR.

Before narrating the R. Plate news, and the good fortune of the Oriental republic, the 'Siècle,' of Paris, is happy to be able to contradict the barbarities alleged, by some Parisian journals, to have been committed by Oribe's forces, at Arroyo Grande, recoil, anticipating by some days the English packet, had brought this alarming intelligence, whereupon the editor of this Oriental legation, Don Melchor Pacheco y Obes to consult him, and received the following reply :

"I believe that Lieut. Colonel Lucas Moreno is incapable of committing the atrocity imputed to him. He has ever stained his career with such acts; but, on the contrary, while his courage yields always to a noble end, he is of the most rank among his comerades in arms, his humanity and generosity have been still more remarkable. From what I know of Lucas Moreno, I cannot credit this report until I get an official notification thereof. You will, then, duly, do me the favor to publish it."

The General was not deceived, for the news of the 'Tay' informs us that there has been no butchery of women and children at Arroyo Grande, but, indeed carried that town by assault, after its rebellion against Oribe, and that the fugitives have been massacred. The real facts are expressed in a few words :

The population of Colonia, like all peaceful people, is anxious to throw off the yoke of Rosas. After Urquiza's declaration, negociations were carried on between the inhabitants of Colonia and the Provisional Government, and the latter was informed that as soon as Lucas Moreno would leave the town it would revolt against Oribe. The Oriental Government, judging the townsfolk to wait until sufficient help could be sent them, but the 'precaution-ists' would immediately took place on the 1st of August.

There were about 100 National Guards with arms and ammunition in Colonia, and a piece of cannon mounted on the walls. Colonel Moreno, on route to reinforce Oribe, had arrived at the Arroyo Rosario (20 leagues from Colonia) when he received the first revolt. It was 9 o'cl ck at night. Ordering 100 troopers to take up each a foot soldier, behind him, and making a forced march, in the midst of a horrible tempest, he arrived with this force in sight of Colonia by day-break. The gates were shut against him, the town was taken by assault in spite of the resistance of the National Guards, and very man found with arms in his hands was instantly put to death. Lucas Moreno gave no quarter; but this terrible severity was used only towards those who caused the revolt, and made armed resistance.

It is with pleasure that the champion of the Montevideo cause render this justice to one of their deadliest enemies, but one who, we are happy to expect, is by from being a barbarian or an assassin.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Every man in town knows that dogs without muzzles and horses without manes, if caught in any of the streets of Buenos Ayres, render the owners liable to fine; yet, notwithstanding that such is the case, on Saturday last was saw an open violation of these edicts—not in a retired part of the city, not in the dusk of the evening, but right at the very Policia door, at the feet of the sentry, there lay a dog unmuzzled, and in the very front of the police cock, there we beheld some dozens of horses standing without 'maneas' on either hind or fore feet. Now, anxious that fair play be shown the public, we call attention to this fact, and wish to know what difference is between a horse or dog in front of Mr. Cazon's door, and in front of the Bolsa?

We have received a rather serious complaint against the bank, from an English merchant, who went the other day to some paper money to the bank, and the clerk brought back a 60 dollar bill. Now, as the Englishman very properly says, why was not this bill marked or stamped by the bank before returned? Is such the daily practice or this delectable institution : and if so, what guarantee have we against forged notes being forced into circulation? This is a rather serious complaint, and we hope to see some explanation given.

Our French colleague who, apropos, seems to have got some fresh blood in its veins, states, what we are informed, is a most glaring falsehood—namely, that the murderer of poor Mr. Smyth is at present a corporal in Moreno's army, and that when he kills a Frenchman he will be made a sergeant. There is not a Frenchman on either this or the other side of the Plate, who believes any such statement. We feel bound to contradict the story, and inform our readers that the Government of Montevideo has taken, and is taking, every step to apprehend the murderer, and that if this villain were in Moreno's army, he would have been long since secured and executed, to satisfy the just indignation of the class of foreigners, who have always proved themselves the steady friends of order and peace, and legally organized Governments, and the unconquerable opponents to all descriptions of revolutions

The Progreso hall is the talk of all the town. Queen Victoria could not vie with the costly magnificence of the Progressists. The red, green, and white ribbons are found up in a multimore befitting the capital of a wealthy empire or kingdom, than the poor struggling head-quarters of a young and illiberal people. The only question very much the propriety of getting up such inconsistent displays of superficial splendour. We like economy in all things, and this, we think, is rather humiliating to think that the country cannot really afford such expensive places of amusement for its ministers go, the senators go, the deputies go, the merchants go, the shopkeepers go, the clerks go—why even the bricklayers and carters have taken out a livelihood by selling old bones, or greasy shopskins, in order to keep up with the times, obliged to attend balls, and treat thousands, in order to take his wife and daughter to the Progreso Ball. There is something so democratic in the whole affair diametrically opposed to the plain, simple spirit of republicanism : there is something so repugnant, so inconsistent, and artificial in the grandeur, that we feel bound to raise our voice against it.

Our last commentary record to-day will amuse our readers. In London they have only two Houses of Parliament, but in Buenos Ayres we have three—without wishing to be prolix—a sort of legislative trinity, three houses in one hall : as fast as one is done, the other goes in : Box and Cox was nothing to it.

We read in the Liverpool papers that the fares of the Sicilia (S. A. S. N. Co.) were as follow : 1st Cabin £20, 2nd £20, 3rd £18. She is daily expected, having left Liverpool on the 7th ult. We do not yet know the passage-money of the La Plata, but understand it will be very much as the above. The former calls at Rio Janeiro.

To-day being a strict holiday, there will be no paper until Thursday morning. Meantime we may have news by one of the Liverpool steamers, in which case, we will given a small supplement.

We are happy to learn that T. O'Brien Esq. Argentine Consul in the Irish capital, is about to visit the River Plate this year, to study its advantages for Irish immigration.

D. Anacleto Ferrer, custom-house broker, has established a Shipping Gazette Bulletin in this city, for which purpose he has received promise of support from our mercantile body.

We will remind you, this week, the forois to be filled for our River-Plate Directory of 1864, and beg our subscribers will return them to the Messenger, on the following day.

The Salto is expected to-day with news from Uruguay; also the inaugeration of the Colorado with a number of young men who went a-shooting. The Menay may come in from Montevideo.

The Santa Rosa Gale.

The long-looked-for storm has at last made its appearance. It began on Saturday night, and rained and blew, with slight intermission, all Saturday night, Sunday, Sunday night, and yesterday. We regret to inform our readers that part of the tramway has been carried away, and the bridge over the Rio Tercero damaged. Part of the Northern Railway has also suffered, but only in the embankment near the Recolete, which has been already repaired at a trivial expense.

In the streets, hats, umbrellas, and mirinaques were blowing about in sad confusion. One old lady was blown round the Plaza. An orange vendor had his stock in trade scattered about Calle San Martin. Some of the Deputies were blown up the stairs of the big hotel. Some dozens of small craft were blown out to sea. A cart was blown one little brig, which slipped her anchor, was coming in so fast that the captain thought he should have his vessel in the Plata before morning.

The most ludicrous accident was that which we heard of this morning : a fighting cock was fairly blown off the Policia for galloping, although the poor fellow swore that it was not his fault, for the wind, being astern of the animal, that was fairly blown into a gallop ; but the policeman would listen to no such excuse, and was marching the unfortunate Gulpin to the Guard House, just at the lower corner of Victoria and Peru, there came a gust which blew the policeman's cap from his head, and off he flew after it. The policeman was in a fix ; he dare not show his face at the Policia without his brass cap, yet if he ran into the Guard House after it, the odds were he might get kicked down stairs, and lose his prisoner into the bargain. To 'manear' the horse and bring the prisoner to the state was out of the question. The storm outside was nothing to the storm inside when it was known that the prisoner had escaped, and fraternized with such visitors. The policeman, who was a bit of a wit, remarked that there was nothing strange in a prisoner escaping in the Guard House, Hall of Pueblo. The policeman's cap was found at last, and the captor and captive descended to the street, when they found a cow in front. They set off to look for the quadruped, and have not been heard of since.

The tramway, as appears by an advertisement in another column, is suspended for a while. The difficulty raising the Co. had employed several men in pulling away the sleepers and rails, and in a house in Calle Tucuman. Two boats were washed up by calle Paraguay. A vessel slipped her cable yesterday and was driven ashore near the Mole. It was driven cross to observe the haste with which the small craft and river steamers clear their moorings, and make for safety. Some boatmen made desperate efforts to pull against the raging tide and get aboard their whale boats.

The storm began about 3 p.m. the gale was at its worst the sea dashed furiously against the beach well up ; threatened destruction to the pensioners' hall of the Recolete. Crowds of people stood on the outside, gazing on the horrors of the scene, and some during pedestrians ventured down to the Gas' Company's premises to see what was the Northern railway, nor could the Mon. to widen steamer come up.

The wind somewhat subsided yesterday evening, and the gale has very deuinly exhausted its fury, but the wave iter is still broken, and we shall probably not see the end of it for the present. advantage of the camps. The thunder and lightning on Saturday and Sunday night were really terrific, yet we hear of no catastrophies. During the gale, it blew from S. E., at intervals veering round N. We may expect to hear of damage and loss in the country ere it is long, though in a trifling degree, and this will be compensated by the valuable rains which have fallen.

The Custom House has not been unwelcome though almost as boisterous as 1860, we have not to deplore the disasters of that year, the ex vessels have all strong hawsers and ing cables on at least were having a timely presage of the coming storm.

At three o'clock it was current that the Northern Railway was stopped owing to some dam ge done in front of Mr. Hale's quinta, at Pobre Diablo

The Spanish ship, Amalia, ajor sailed for anchors 427. We hear that 14,000 dollars was asked by a whale-boat owner to take her one

It is rumoured that three corpses were washed ashore near the Gas house, but we cannot confirm the report. The greater part of the tramway, it is said, is washed away.

In the Boca the inundation has been so great, that hundreds of families have to fly.

The Swedish barque Lofoer was signalling in the afternoon yesterday, 1028— Will you come on board ?"

The waves in front of Sr Llavallol's house were alarmingly high, and it was feared that the storm lasted till morning, some of the piers would be washed away. A boat left the Mole head at three o'clock, for a vessel in the inner roads, but had to put back. A brig came in from Monte video about 2 p.m. intimating nothing to the storm, no one could come on shore

During Sunday night, we are happy to say, no damage had occurred in the outer roads, and on yesterday evening the river had fallen more than two feet.

Projected Harbour for B. Ayres.

1. The Co. shall construct at their own risk and expense a harbour for this city.

2. The entrance to such harbour will be near Quilmes, with a depth of water of 22 feet at low tide, with a proper sluice-gate.

3. This entrance will be prolonged as far as the Riachuelo de Boca, by means of a rectangular canal parallel with the high road, being 85 yards wide and 7 deep in the centre, with a suitable sluice gate at the Riachuelo.

4. On the East side of the Riachuelo by port entrance, another canal shall be constructed, to unite the Boca with the new Custom house, having 100 yards in width by 7 in depth, with a sluice gate at the Riachuelo.

5. At the outer extremity of the port will be erected two towers : one for a light house, and the other for a signal-house, suitable for the same gate

6. All repairs, cleaning, and other canal-works, as well as curing the light house shall be at the expense of the Co. during the whole of the concession.

7. Along the margen of the land canal of the 1st section, shall be ceded to the Co. in fee a trust of ground 200 yards in depth. If this include any private property the Co. shall be expropriate the same, for its fair value.

8. In the second canal, connecting the Riachuelo with the Custom house, shall be ceded to the Co. on the municipiety of the land bordering on the Riachuelo, which shall be reclaimed from the River Plate, between the present line of the municipal coast of the coast, leaving an intermediate street of 26 yards wide, the other half, adjoining the Custom house, being the property of the Co. On the Riachuelo side, from the coast to the Riachuelo, the Co. may expropriate a tract of 100 yards deep of private property.

9. The Co. shall erect, at their own expense, warehouses and stores along the canal, to be subject to fiscal inspection. Government may rent whatever accommodation it requires on arranging the terms with the Co.

10. When the 1st section shall be finished to the Riachuelo, although the 2nd section be not complete, a vessels from beyond the seas, steamers, coast traders, &c., carrying goods, subject to duty, shall be obliged to enter the custom house, there for unloading or loading, paying the fees established by the Co.

11 The Co. shall recovery, in such cases, on each ton of silver or gold, 1 per 100 on register, and the same for loading. A vessel may remain 30 days in port from her date of entry, therein, each term she shall pay 5 silver dollars to the Co.

12. A further charge of half a silver real per ton shall be exacted for light-house dues, as also on coast traders entering the 1st section.

13. No vessel shall be cleared from the Custom house, without previous certificate of having paid tonnage and light-house dues to the Co.

14. The Co. shall have one or more tug-boats to take vessels in or out of the port the fee for which shall be convention nal, not, however, exceeding 4 silver reals per ton register.

15. If by any event a dispute should arise respecting the tonnage of a vessel, or that the Co. suspect fraud therein, an intelligent examiner shall be named along with the Captain of Port and master of the vessel to measure and report on the same ; party condemned shall pay the costs hereof.

16. The Co. shall draw up a police-code for the canal, including the Riachuelo, which shall have force, after receiving Government sanction.

17. It is understood that, if even the Co. should not have terminated the works, or that the use of one canal should be suspended for the purpose of deepening or cleaning it, the Co. shall in that time have a right to recover the customary dues.

18. This concession shall be for a term of 25 years to count from the entry of the first vessel in the 1st section, after which the Government shall enter into full possession of the canals and light house.

19. Government may purchase at the conclusion of the above term the lands acquired by the Co. also all sheds and warehouses erected upon a valuation by experienced parties named by both.

20. The concessionaire shall be allowed two years to commence the works after signing the contract. If delayed in that term the concession shall be void.

21. On the expiration of 21 years after the construction of the harbour, government shall be at liberty to purchase all the works, premises, land, &c., on a valuation as above, paying more- over 8 p. c. interest, annuity, and giving security to the satisfaction of the Co.

22. All instruments, materials, machinery &c. for the construction of the harbor shall be imported free of duty, and be exempted from all tax during the term of the concession.

The new American General.

We extract the following from the New York letter of the Daily News.

The commander-in-chief General Mende is a native of Cadiz, where his father resided for some years as American consul. He came, however, in a boy to the United States, and received to embrace the military career.

He graduated at West Point with the highest honours, served with distinction in the Mexican War, and had commanded a division and then a corps through the present war with a skill and bravery that have won success. He led the attack on the left, under Franklin at the battle of Fredericksburg, and achieved the only success of the day, driving the enemy for nearly a mile, and only fell back for want of support.

He has, however, been little heard of out of the army, owing in a great measure to his reserved manners, his complete absorption in his profession, and his avoidance of politics and political intrigue. He has, perhaps, been confirmed in his indifference by the fact that he he was born in Spain, though a full American citizen, and is ineligible for the presidency, so that his greatest honours can only be achieved in the army. He is a close student, silent, reserved, and, on the contrary, has an unpopular man personally, but his elevation has given general satisfaction throughout the service, which have been increased by the manner in which he first general order. I learn from private letters from the army that he has go- ne to the front with great vigour, and resumed the onward movement. At the very day he took the command, pushing his whole force in the direction of Gordonsville and Orange, while Beauregard, valley swept the country of such forages up as far as Hanover.

LOCAL EVENTS.

A SCENE IN THE HOUSE.—The other evening the spurs of Sir De Lacy Evans entangled, some way or other, with the long legs of Right Hon. F. Peel, the financial Secretary to the Treasury, and the result was that he lost his balance and came down with a run. One of the whole Cabinet— Lord Palmerston must fortunately managed to get his legs out of the way in time, and escaped the mishap. Mr. Milner Gibson and the Chancellor of the Exchequer were sadly spattered, although they, good-naturedly joined in the merriment in Westminster and at his upright Mr. Frederick Peel rubbed his shins, as well he might—an instrument of torture in the hands of small amount of amusement to the occupants of the Treasury Bench opposite.

THE EX-KING OF NAPLES.—A letter from Rome, in the Weser Zeitung, published by the anti-King of Naples. Some window-panes were broken, but nobody was injured. The King, who was at the Count of Trapani's villa at the time, on hearing of the occurrence, thought proper not to go home, but to pass the night where he was.

GENERAL MOURAVIEFF.—As Posen journal attributes the following words of the Emperor of Russia in speaking of General Mouravieff :—"I have sent to Wilna a man who is dear to me (Muravieff), but I have since been obliged to choose one that I loved."

GENERAL MOURAVIEFF.—As Posen journal attributes the following words of the Emperor of Russia in speaking of General Mouravieff :—"I have sent to Wilna a man who is dear to me (Muravieff), but I have since been obliged to choose one that I loved."

An interesting case was heard in Liverpool on Tuesday. A Roman Catholic priest was summoned to give evidence in an affiliation case but the information he had to give having been obtained through the confessional, he declined to make it known, and the magistrates allowed the plea.

TYPHUS FEVER—The great cause and origin of the propagation of the typhus fever is the overcrowding of human beings in badly-ventilated dwellings. It matters not whether we have to do with gaols, barracks, ships, or the wretched hovels of the poor in large cities. "If," says an able writer on fever in the last century, "any person will take the trouble to stand in the sun and look at his own shadow on a white plastered wall, he will easily perceive that his whole body is a smoking dunghill, with a vapour exhaling from every part of it. This vapour is subtle, sfetid, and offensive to the smell: if retained in the body it becomes morbid; but if reabsorbed, highly deleterious. If a number of persons, therefore, are long confined in any close place, not properly ventilated, so as to inspire and swallow with their spittle the vapours of each other, they must soon feel its bad effects. Bad provisions and gloomy thoughts will add to their misery, and soon breed the seminum of a pestilential fever, dangerous not only to themselves, but also to every person who visits them, or even communicates with them at second hand. Hence it is so frequently bred in gaols, hospitals, ships, camps and besieged towns. A seminium once produced is easily spread by contagion." The connexion between famine and epidemics in typhus is in this way. One of the most common consequences of destitution from any cause is the congregation of several families in one house, in consequence of their inability to pay their rents, and of the concentration in the large towns of many of the inhabitants of country districts. This was notoriously the case at Preston before the appearance of typhus last autumn. Famine predisposes to typhus by weakening the constitution: but it only produces typhus in so far as it causes overcrowding. It is impossible to define the degree of crowding necessary to produce typhus. Overcrowding, which with defective ventilation, or with none at all, would generate typhus, would be harmless if the surrounding atmosphere were repeatedly renewed.

ON 'CHANGE.

September 7.

Owing to the state of the weather, the attendance on 'Change to-day was thin. Ounces kept very stationary, and did not open until twelve o'clock, at 442 1/2. They fell to 441 1/2; after which they regained 443, but closed at 441. Cash sales, 2950.

To-day we noticed but little speculation. A good deal of ounces were bought for the end of the month, but we think these transactions were more of a commercial than a speculative character. A sale of 300 ounces for the end of the year was made at 431 1/2, and it is said that more would have been sold at that price but that there were no buyers.

It was known on the Bolsa that a brig had come up from Montevideo, and, as a matter of course, all sorts of stories were current about Flores and Co, but as it was well known that no boat could come on shore, people paid no attention to such 'patent bolsa.'

Paper money, it is said, is very abundant, and some first-class paper was discounted to-day at 6 per cent per ancum. Business is so dull at present, that people who have disposable funds, find great difficulty to employ them above bank rate.

We call attention to the splendid estancia which will shortly be sold by auction. Mr. Hallock's estancia is well known, and will, we have no doubt, fetch a good price.

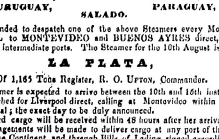
THE RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.



LA PLATA, PARANA,
URUGUAY, PARAGUAY,
SALADO.

It is intended to despatch one of the above Steamers every Month from LIVERPOOL to MONTEVIDEO and BUENOS AYRES direct, without calling at any Intermediate ports. The Steamer for the 10th August is the

LA PLATA,

Of 1,165 Tons Register, R. O. UPTON, Commander.

This steamer is expected to arrive between the 10th and 16th instant, and will be dispatched for Liverpool direct, calling at Montevideo within 30 days after her arrival; the exact day to be duly announced.

Homeward cargo will be received within 48 hours after her arrival at this port, and engagements will be made to deliver cargo at any port of the United Kingdom or the Continent, and through Bills of Lading signed accordingly.

The object of this Company being to facilitate and extend the present trade between the River Plate and Europe, the rates of freight and passage money will be fixed on a very reduced scale, the former subject to special arrangements, and the latter to be announced after the arrival of the Steamer.

These Steamers have superior accommodation for passengers, and the treatment on board will in every respect be equal to that of other steam lines.

Parcels and Specie will be received on board up to the day previous to sailing.

SAUNDERS & KEIYSER,

ENGINEERS, MILLWRIGHTS, SMITHS, &c.

117—Perdo. to Julio—117,

Buenos Ayres.

SAUNDERS KEIYSER begs to announce to his public and to country that Partnership with ARTHUR KEIYSER, Engineer, formerly as the principal assistant employed by Mr. Thomas Moore, and lately in the Estancia of Mr. Hudson.

Wood pumps, cranes, and developing machine and every description of work requiring skill and experience, also fencing, corn shellers, corn mills, &c., a home grown timber always on hand, and for sale, cut to any length and size, and at moderate prices, those small wants in general so neglected by the large establishments, will receive the most prompt attention.

Having had the experience of the last twelve years in the employment of Mr. Moore, I am confident that I can give the most satisfactory references, and following in the same line of business, I hope to merit a share of the patronage which has been given to my late employer, and which I trust shall be continued to me.

COLEGIO ANGLO-PORTENO

283—CALLE MAYO—283.

This school has been established for several years, and is well known in this city.

No pains are spared to make the place of instruction attractive to the pupils, and the instruction itself profitable.

Parents are respectfully invited to visit the school, and to note carefully the monthly reports of progress and deportment.

The English, Spanish, and French languages are carefully taught by skilful masters, and every branch of useful or ornamental education may be prosecuted in either of these languages.

French and drawing are taught after school hours. Also an afternoon class for fancy work four times a week.

Day pupils can be received at any time, and a few could be accommodated as boarders or half-boarders.

Sept. 20th,

Anne S. Smith, 295 Mayo,

Principal.
